COEHS MICROCOMPUTER LAB

The College of Education and Human Services Microcomputer Lab provides Macintosh computer access for students and faculty throughout the SIUC campus.

Whether for creating or editing documents, printing, or internet access, the Microcomputer Lab is open to any student on a drop-in basis, when not in use by scheduled classes.

Facilities:

Lab A

Lab A of the COEHS Microcomputer Lab has 16 Macintosh G4 computers available for student use. An instructor station provides overhead projection with an interactive SmartBoard. All computers have internet access.

Lab B

Lab B of the COEHS Microcomputer Lab, the most recently-updated classroom in the lab, has 16 iMac G5 computers available for student use. An instructor station provides overhead projection with an interactive SmartBoard. All computers have internet access.

Both lab classrooms offer scanning ability and printing is available from either lab at a cost of 10¢ per page for b/w, or 70¢ per page for color. Printers utilize IKON printing cards. While cards are not available for purchase in the lab, a copier on the third floor of Wham is available to add credit to the cards.

Either lab can be scheduled for large screen video or DVD projection for classes.

Software

The COEHS Microcomputer Lab has the following software titles available for use:

- Microsoft Office Suite
- Macromedia Studio MX
- SPSS
- Inspiration
- Adobe Photoshop Elements
- iMovie (Digital Video Editing)
- Web browsers
- Chat/Instant messaging software

This is not a comprehensive list. If you are interested in a particular software package, please e-mail or call us.
